FROM YOUR PASTOR'S HEART

A student at University of North Georgia discovered an assigned textbook making a blunt claim that Christianity is a "U.S.-based white supremacist group." A spokesperson for the university said it wasn't referring to all Christians, just a group within Christianity. But if you read the entire paragraph, it definitely does not make that distinction. It simply states that Christianity is a white supremacist group.

I have two questions. First, how could someone even write that? Do you not have to have some sort of credentials or expertise to write a college textbook? That is one of the dumbest statements I've ever read. It is so outlandish…so incredibly out of touch with reality…that only an idiot would say it, let alone believe it. Surely there was an editor, or some editors, who would read that and flag it immediately because of its foolish and unprovable premise. But, no. It got published and is being taught in college.

The second question is why did he write it? I mean, it is so flagrantly wrong…and he knows it. Why would someone write that? Quick answer: He hates Christianity. The Bible tells us that the world hates Jesus so they hate His followers. A person would not write such drivel as that unless he literally hates believers…and wants others to hate them, too.

This is how Satan works. This is how he lies and deceives people. He takes someone with a bur under their saddle for something and inspires him to write that. It gets published in a college textbook, edited by others who are deceived, and a young kid reads it and thinks "wow. A college professor, a person with knowledge and intelligence…who wouldn't lie to me…says this. It must be true".

Let me just say that a college education ain't what it used to be.

Say good things about your Savior and His church
